Stories are still going around today, of angels who from time to time simply settle down in this wonderful bay of happiness and experience hours of eternity. Cala Magrana does not have its own beach, as the bay of Cala Anguila is only a few meters away from Cala Magrana. The bay with a manageable size of about 35 x 60 meters is surrounded by magical rocks and offers protection from wind and storms on both sides.. The water on this beach looks turquoise blue and slowly and like a magical shimmer pulls into the big, wide sea.. The horizon can be seen from the beach and seems endless, like poetry.
